

place called Cocomscussuc, a little north of the present village of Wickford, R. I. Richard Smith, the elder, died in 1666. His son of the same name took over the trading-post. During King Philip's War, when the English fought the Narragansetts, the Smith house was a rendezvous for the English and the Indians burned the place down soon after the war had ended. Richard Smith, Jr., rebuilt the house, apparently about 1684, and that building still stands today and is occupied by his descendants, although the house was "modernized" between 1735 and 1740.¹

Record of the Consistory for the year 1687

IN THE NAME OF GOD.

The king of France, Louis XIV has exercised such horrible persecution in his kingdom against the Protestant Religion, that one ought not to be surprised to see french people withdrawn into these wilds; we have come here to seek freedom for our Religion, that is the only reason that has brought us to this place, and the only condition under which we have accepted this new settlement. It is therefore in this way that we began on arriving here. Since we have been here we have carried out our exercises on every Sunday as we were accustomed to do in france: And as we had not yet a Temple built, we have made our devotions in the house of Major Smith for the space of about three months: after which God having given us the grace to see the number of our people multiplied, we have built a temple in the french settlement where Monsieur Carré our minister preaches to us every Sunday, and has prayers every Wednesday, so that having resolved to follow our religion in accordance with the discipline of france, we intend to make here an exact transcript of everything that we think of service for posterity, for the promotion of the Church, and to the glory of God. AMEN.

Today the fifth of December, one thousand six hundred eighty six, was baptized in the house of Mr. Richard Smit, after the sermon, Aquille Kech, natural son of — Kéch, and of priscilla Watkins presented for baptism by Mr. Richard Smit, and baptized by Mr. Carré, minister.

The said child was aged seven years or thereabout.

a free gift was given for the establishment of Monsieur Carré our minister in this place of two hundred and fifty acres of land; namely—first 150 acres of land given for him and in his own name, because that he was the first to proclaim the gospel of JESUS CHRIST in this place.

And besides this, one hundred acres to enjoy and to have the usufructuary (usufruitière) disposition of. However wishing to establish him among us in the most respectable manner possible—we the consistory and heads of families assembled, wish to settle on him a pension besides this of 50 crowns (écus) or thereabouts, testifying our regret that we cannot carry out further our efforts—begging Monsieur Carré to content himself with that for the present hoping some day to give him a more creditable support through the increase of private individuals who will in time join themselves together to take land in this place, who will be obliged to contribute to his support on their signing the contract for their lands; however those who contribute at present, and who have been taxed by the Consistory and the heads of families are mentioned on the reverse page.

On the fifth of June 1687 six sous were collected at the church door for the poor.

Carré, minister. J. Many, elder.

On the said day, 5th. of June, our leaders, having recognized that irreverence in the temples was one of the principal causes of the judgments that God visited upon us in France, they have resolved to make an end to these abuses in this place. For that purpose they exhort by this act all those who may find themselves in our assemblies to keep their heads uncovered when listening to the word of God in order to show the respect they have for this great God, who speaks to them in the Scriptures in a much more formal manner than in the sermons. They also order that during the prayers everyone shall kneel on the ground before Him whom the angels adored with so much humility and whom the true faithful revere with so much submission: And as this is the way to bring the blessing of God upon this new establishment the Consistory gives warning to all those who show themselves disobedient to this act that they will be proceeded against by all the severity of the church discipline, even to the absolute suspension of the sacrament; and so that everyone shall know it, the present act shall be publicly read Sunday before the service. Done at frenchtown in the consistory in the temple of the said place this fifth of June 1687.

On the 12th of June 1687 collected at the door of the temple for the poor five sous.

On the 3rd July 1687.

Monsieur Carré, our minister, having complained to the consistory and to the heads of families assembled in the temple of the fact that they did not carry into effect the decision which had been made the 15th of June last to build him a house, nor the verbal promise that was made to him on the first of the following July, to commence it; we have determined to make no further postponement; and we all pledge ourselves to commence it for him on the first of August next; and we are all of one mind to build it on his own ground, not only for the reasons that he has given but as it is a gift that we make him personally. As however it is not our intention to give it to any one but himself, the said Mr. Carré pledges himself and promises, that in case he dies within ten years, the ownership of the said house will be returned to the Church that had caused it to be built, provided that he has not contracted a marriage between now and that time. After which he will be the absolute master to enjoy it always.

Monsieur Carré our minister having represented to us that the church of boston had asked him to go to preach once every month among them during the absence of Monsieur bonrepos their minister, we willingly grant the request that these gentlemen make of us, understanding that this action is necessary for the instruction of their church, hoping that they would do likewise for us should we find ourselves in the same state, and looking especially to the communion of saints which we wish to maintain, and to the glory of God which ought to be our principal aim. Today the twenty-fifth of September 1787 Mr. Carré our minister having assembled us this evening after the service represented to us the sad state of the Church of God in these days, and proposed to us a solemn fast to try to turn away from us the judgments of God by our repentance. This the Consistory and the heads of families have found very necessary. For this purpose they have set aside the twelfth of October (old style) as being very appropriate as it is the day of the fatal declaration that extinguished the public exercise of our religion in France, in abolishing the Edict of Nantes, destroying our temples, banishing our pastors, etc.—so much so that this terrible day shall be after this for us a day of mourning and of tears, and will be observed annually by fasting and public mortification until it shall have pleased God to relight his torch in France. And the present act shall be read in full assembly the two Sundays before this solemn occasion and the ministers shall be asked to prepare the people for such a serious matter. Done in the temple of Frenchton the day and the year as above by the united consent of the pastor and the people, in faith of which they have signed.

Done in the temple on the above said day and year, in testimony of which they have signed the present act.

Carré, minister. Estienne Robineaux. Pierre trauerier. Moyze le Brun, elder.

The Consistory knowing that the observance of the day of rest is one of the principal parts of our creed, and one of the most striking features of our Devotion, recommends that the day should be observed in a most particular manner. This is why it prohibits by this act, to employ any part of Sunday in the chase, in promenades, at drinking houses, or in games whatever they may be; not even to cut wood to warm oneself. Declaring that those who fall into such errors shall be severely censured; and in order that no one shall be ignorant of it the present act will be publicly read next Sunday at the end of the service. Jacque Many, elder. Carré, minister. Moyze le Brun, elder.

Mr. giraud having scandalized us by his shameful manner of begging in Rodeiland which he has accompanied by lying to persuade people that he is in the deepest poverty and weighed down with a family of seven children, which is contrary to the truth—we have cited him before this company to answer to these charges, and Mr. pierre tauerrie has orders to cite him on Sunday next, after the prayer. Done in the temple the day and the year as above.

sunday, fourth of the month of december of the present year Mr. girard having appeared before this company we have judged him meriting of a severe reprimand for the base action he committed accompanying it with falsehood, his way of begging. Not being willing to accept our reproofs and having answered back with a great deal of anger and irreverence we have dismissed him to appear in fifteen days before this company—hoping that God will touch his heart, and that he will come before us again with more submission and modesty. Done at the temple the said day as above.

The Company having learned with sorrow that packs of cards have crept in among us, and seeing the misfortunes that this sort of game brings upon families, the loss of time for those who occupy themselves with them, the divisions and disputes which they engender, the blasphemies which accompany them, the trickeries which they produce, and above all taking into consideration that our Religion has always prohibited them, the Company declares to all those who practice such games that they will be cited to appear before the Consistory and severely censured for the first offense, proposing more severe penalties for the scandalous ones who continue to play. In this cause it is decided that immediately after the reading of this present act, there shall be read publicly that part of the discipline which touches this subject, so that these two strokes falling at the same time will make more impression. Done at the temple at frenchton the first Januāry 1688.

Carré, minister. P. Bonyot. Jacque Many. Moyze le Brun-elder.
Pierre Berton, elder.

Mr. le Brun is named to read during all the month of January and Mr. Berton to go to advise Mons. Carré our minister of the hour of the assembly. Done at the temple the said day and year as above.

P. Berton, elder.

On the fifteenth of January 1688 Mr. Girard having appeared before this assembly, which had cited him, they exhorted him not to beg or lie any more, and to be more submissive to his superiors, and in order not to give rise to a repetition of this, they have begged Mons. Carré to write to Rodeiland to Seicouq, Providence &C. not to receive any more beggars if they have not a certificate from the minister and the elders to attest their poverty. Done at the temple at a meeting of the consistory the said day and year as above.

Carré, minister. Jacque Many. P. Bonyot, elder. P. Berton, elder.
Moyze le Brun, elder. Pierre Trauerrier, elder.

The Company seeing that Mr. Gallais has too many other occupations to allow him to exercise the charge of schoolmaster, they thank him for the offers that he made them of his services, and in the meantime they will be on the look out for some one else to whom to give this employment. Done at the temple at a meeting of the consistory the 22nd Jan. 1688.

Carré, minister. Jacque Many. P. Bonyot, elder. Moyze le Brun, elder.
P. Berton, elder. Pierre Trauerrier.

Mr. Carré our minister having demonstrated to us again that the irregularity of the church lands makes them useless, as their want of breadth prevents their being occupied, and having made us see by the terms of an agreement with Mr. pierre Berton that these irregularities can be remedied by the junction of the grounds, we have consented that the said Messrs. Carré and Berton accommodate themselves in accordance with the act that they have made between them, which for this purpose shall be written out and signed by our hand in testimony of our approval. We the undersigned seeing that the narrowness of our lots make them not only malformed, but nearly useless, and wishing to remedy the irregularity by mutual concessions, we have agreed upon the following articles —first—that the same extent of our lots shall be kept, there will only be the shape changed in such manner that in place of their being narrow and long, they will be double as wide as they are—secondly—(in order to accomplish this end) instead of our said lots being divided in length from north to south, by a direct line, they will be thrown together, and this line will be destroyed, in order to make another which will divide them in two, from east to west. thirdly that it is this line from east to west which will make after this the separation of our lots, and in order that all shall be for the convenience as much of us as for others who may in the future do the same, we leave between us a cart road of the width of two rods which will extend and come out onto the high road of the temple. fourthly so that the church lot will be situated on the high road from grenich in full view as it was before, with this difference only that it is more towards the south, and instead of the length being from the little river to the meadow, this length will be cut in two, and made wider so that the lot will be larger and more regular. Fifthly, following this procedure instead of the grounds of the church being only twenty rods in width and one hundred and sixty in length, they will have forty or thereabouts in width and eighty in length—sixthly—it only now remains in regard to the situation of the temple on this lot. It is determined that it shall remain in the same place, and the cemetery near it, being one half acre in extent which Mr. Berton gives to be ground for the church in perpetuity, so that neither he nor his shall ever be able to reclaim it. All of which is agreed and concluded according to the good pleasure of the Consistory. made at frenchtoon at a meeting of the Consistory, the 22nd January one thousand six hundred and eighty eight.

On the fourth of March 1688 was baptized by Monsieur Carré our minister, francoise daughter of Moyse le Moine and Jeanne drommeau of this church—and was presented in baptism by Mr. pierre Trauerrie and francoise bertran wife of Mr. hereau, who have declared the said girl to have been born the third of the said month.

Carré, minister. Pierre trauerier. Françoise Bertran. Moise Moine.

The widow Perlié is cited before this company to reply to the complaints which have been brought against her by the widow Gallai and the girl³ Arnaut the above named day. Bonyot is charged to cite her for sunday next.

Carré, minister. P. Bonyot. P. Berton. Moyze le Brun.

Today the widow perlié appeared before this company to defend herself from the complaints brought against her by the widows Gallay and Arnaut, on which knowing but little of the facts, they remanded them until they might be judged before witnesses. Done in the temple at a meeting of the Consistory, this 11th of March.

Carré, minister. P. Berton. P. Bonyot. Jacque Many.

On the above named day, Monsieur Carré our minister having represented to us that the act of July third had not been executed in accordance with the engagement made by the people neither should it now be executed in the conditions which concerned him.—if not being just that an entire house should be given back to the church which has only furnished the frame of the large room, 700 planks and 2000 shingles—and that Mr. Carré did all the rest at his own expense;—on which the company judged it right to draw up this present act, to serve as a restriction on the undertaking, so that if it becomes necessary to make restitution it would take in only the things advanced by the church, and nothing further. Done in the temple at a meeting of the consistory the said day and year as above.

Carré, minister. P. Bonyot, secretary. P. Berton, elder.

Pierre trauerrier. Jacque Many, elder. Moyze le Brun, elder.

Having heard the report of the witnesses who were present at the quarrel of the widows Arnaut and perlier we have judged the widow perlier deserving of very great censure, without however approving altogether of the behavior of the widows gallais and Arnaut, this is why they shall all be cited for next Friday after the sermon and in case they refuse to appear, Mr. bonyot will refuse to them the communion ticket for sunday and will cite them for sunday week, the first day of April. Done in the temple at a Consistory meeting the eighteenth of March 1688.

Carré, minister. Moyze le Brun. P. bonyot, secretary and elder.

This twenty-fifth of March Messrs. Bonyot trauerrier, Many and le brun assisted at the services, of whom Mr. trauerrier will furnish the bread and the wine of the Communion Sunday next, and Mr. Many will receive the communion tickets.

Carré, minister. Moyze le Brun. P. Bonyot, secretary and elder.

On the said day have appeared the widows gallay and arnaut who having shown their obedience to this company, will be received at the communion if they find themselves disposed to do so, but the widow Perlié is cited for a week from next sunday for the second time, by Mr. bonyot who is charged with the subpoena. Carré, minister. P. Bonyot, secretary. Moyze le Brun, elder.

On the first of April of the year one thousand six hundred and eighty eight, the widow perlié having appeared before this company with the widows gallay and arnaut Mr. Carré our minister has applied the proper rebukes to the widow perlié and represented to the widows gallay and arnaut their duty, and sent them away to be reconciled.

Carré, minister. P. Bonyot, secretary. Moyze le Brun, elder.

On the eleventh of the said month pierre trauerrier and Marie Arnaut received the nuptial benediction by Monsieur Carré our minister, the three publications of announcements having been previously made according to the form of our churches, in testimony of which we have signed.

The consistory and several of us the Heads of family who truly love their religion desire with all their hearts to make here an establishment for the public exercise of piety but as they see that the thing is extremely difficult, by reason of the ingratitude and obstinacy of several who refuse to pay the tax of the minister, wishing to remedy this disorder and make a distinction between the pious and those others, we, the minister and the elders of this church, after the invocation of the holy name of God, declare that those persons who refuse to pay their tax through obstinacy or through ingratitude, will be deprived of the holy communion, as unworthy of this sacrament of piety and of charity as it is thus that they extinguish if they can the torch of the word of God in these lands —besides which, in case they should wish to contract marriage the nuptial benediction will be refused them and they will not be received to present their children in baptism until they have first done their duty. That if these people will not return because of these punishments, we consider them unworthy of the name of Christian Protestant, and after having tolerated them in this condition for the space of one year in our assemblies and having exhorted them every quarter to do their duty—if they refuse, they will be deprived of entrance into our temples as persons who are not of our communion. It is thus that we will bring back among us the pious security of the ancient church, that we will throw out of our bosom these dissolute and scandalous persons whose smallest fault is to refuse to pay the minister—our communion will then become more pure and consequently more agreeable to God. But in order that people may not think that there is some injustice or some want of charity in this resolution, we declare that we only condemn here ill will and rebellion, protesting that we have consideration for those who are unable to pay the said tax which will be examined into and judged by the consistory when they find those who complain, and in order that every one may know it, the present act shall be read next sunday after the service. Done in the temple at a Consistory meeting the 29th of April 1688.

Today 21st October 1688, God having established in this realm three french protestant churches they have all three resolved to keep up between them a close communion both by the exercise of the same discipline and by the convocation of the same conference or Synod.

This is why we have agreed with the church of boston and that of nipmoc⁴, as they have also agreed with us, no longer to receive at communion any member of the other churches without a certificate from the minister and the elders of the place where they made profession of religion, until more exact measures

On the said day Monsieur Carré, our minister, having reported to us that a few days ago after the sermon in the temple of boston the consistory of that place, assembled with its minister, that of nippmoc and that of this church, it was proposed in the meeting that a conference be held next year, according to the usual manner of our protestant churches in france, on which they all came to an unanimous agreement having left the determination of the time when it should be convoked to the decision of the particular churches. This is why we decide the 15th of May is the best time for the convocation of the said conference—we will submit however to whatever the plurality of voices orders. Today, above given, the consistory seeing that an abuse which is against our discipline is creeping into this flock, which is that the fathers are renouncing the custom of godmothers and godfathers which is accepted in france, and imitate it by themselves presenting their children in baptism, and wishing to remedy this we judge it necessary to exhort fathers and mothers not to stiffen themselves against the usage practiced in france and for this purpose the act of discipline which touches on this subject will be read publicly sunday next after the sermon so as to prevent that this thing happens again. Done at a meeting of the consistory after the prayers.

Carré, minister. Moyze le Brun. P. Berton. P. Bonyot, secretary and elder.

This company having been informed of the scandal that Isaac Girard and the widow Arnaut gave to this church last week it declares them both unworthy to receive the communion in suspending the said girard for having made public a matter, which true or false, shame should have made him keep in silence, and the widow arnaut is also suspended from the communion not so much for the accusation of the said girard which we cannot confirm or confute, as for the shameless liberties which she cannot deny having taken with the said girard, and because the scandal is public, the said suspensions should be also public, and they should not be lifted from them until they have first testified to their repentance and satisfied this company. Done in the temple at a consistory meeting this 10th March 1689.

Carré, minister. P. Bonyot, secretary and elder. P. Berton, elder. Pierre trauerrier, elder. Le Brun.

On the said day it having been represented to this company that the wife of Isaac girard had a considerable part in the scandal committed by her husband and the widow arnaut, the company of the consistory having judged her deserving of suspension for having tolerated and even consented to the situation instead of having informed the persons who have the inspection of such things, but, since we do not judge her as guilty as the others, her suspension is only temporary and for three months only, after which it will be raised, on her presenting herself before this company to show them her repentance. Done in the temple the said day and year as above, and for the above matter Mr. berton is charged to give the warning. Carré, minister. P. Bonyot, elder and secretary. Moyze le Brun, elder. P. In consequence of the remonstrance made to the Elders of our church by Monsieur Carré on Sunday the tenth of March to maintain peace and concord among us, and complaining of the little care that they take in the augmentation of his salary; the said Elders having assembled themselves on the eleventh of the said month, they have agreed on a tax among themselves in all good faith, protesting that they have put aside and buried under foot all hatred, having no other aim but that of giving the means of livelihood to our minister who will be obliged to leave us if we do not put matters in better order. That is why they have laid a new tax on every individual in addition to the other tax, and have offered it to the said Mr. Carré who was satisfied with it and promised that if every one of those named will consent to it, to remain among us, and if he is obliged to go to Europe for his affairs, he engages himself to return one year after his departure, by the grace of God, and affirms this promise with his oath, and signed with his hand and seal, for the sake of peace and concord. Today the 13th of October, 1689 the consistory and the heads of families having assembled, monsieur Carré represented to them that he had learned that several members of this Colony were on the point of leaving it, and that it was necessary to consider if this thing would be just under the present circumstances, the interests of the church being absolutely mixed with those of this Colony; on which the assembly determined that since the said Mr. Carré had engaged himself solemnly and by an inviolable act to remain in this Colony, that should require the private individuals as indispensably to remain, since the church cannot exist without the Colony. But since it is impossible to prevent such private persons from leaving this settlement we wish that their lands would be cleared and straightened[?], and otherwise by public consent, or conveyed to others for the profit of the church, to be for the amelioration of those who remain and who contribute to the minister; except that in case the persons who are going away themselves wish to keep their dwelling places for contributing to the ministry and to the other charges of the Colony. Monsieur Carré, our minister, having advised us of the proposals that he made to the church of Boston, and after having heard the strong and pressing reasons which had induced him to make them, we have all unanimously approved of his proceeding, that is why we grant to him willingly his leave, feeling however a profound sorrow not to be able to support him among us; but we would be very sorry if for our own private interests we made him lose the chance of some favorable establishment. These reasons oblige us to give him his entire liberty, with a thousand blessings, praying God that he will accompany him in all his resolutions. Done in the temple on the above said day.
